Lt. Governor Regarded as Heir of Job

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — In many states the lieutenant governor is regarded as the heir apparent to the governor's chair.
In the 40 years Arkansas has had a lieutenant governor, he has been the presiding officer of the Senate and very little else.
Twenty of those 40 years one man, Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon, held the office. Gordon's retirement from politics last week creates the first open race for lieutenant governor in two decades.
Three candidates, Democrats Joe Basore of Cherokee Village and Ralph Johnson of Hardy, and Republican Maurice "Foolie" Brut of Little Rock had filed for the office even before the candidates are expected to appear.
I hope they elect a good man," Gordon said when he announced his retirement. "Something might happen to the governor."

Only one lieutenant governor has stepped up—the first, Lt. Gov. Harvey Parnell became governor in 1928 when Gov. John E. Martin resigned to become a federal judge.
Parnell later was elected to two terms in his own right.
Between Parnell and Gordon, five men held the office. None ever was elected to a higher office.
Lee Cazort served three terms. He succeeded Parnell in 1929. Lawrence Wilson was elected for one term in 1930, then Cazort came back in 1932 and won the first of two consecutive terms.
Bob Bailey was lieutenant governor for three terms (1937-43) and J. S. Shaver for two terms (1943-47) before Gordon, a war hero, was elected in 1948.
Gordon served under Govs. Ben Laney, Sid McMath, Francis Cherry and Orval Faubus. He said he was acting governor many times but the most important work he performed was signing a few paroles and commutations and hundreds of Arkansas Traveler certificates.

Basore and Brut have talked about playing a more active role if they are elected. Gordon said he does not see how this will be possible unless the law is changed to give the lieutenant governor more responsibility.
He said the state might benefit if the job were made full-time. It now pays $2,500 a year, which is fair compensation for working the 60 days of each biennial regular session of the legislature and a few, short special sessions.
Gordon said he did not think the office should be turned into a training ground for governors. "This job is more legislative than executive the way it's set up," he said.
Early in his career Gordon was frequently mentioned in speculation about other offices. In recent years he always moved rapidly to head off such speculation.
Gordon practices law with his brother, Ed Gordon, and Felver Rowell in Morrilton.

Objector Holds Medal of Honor

By BEN CHESTER
RISING FAWN, Ga. (AP) — Desmond T. Doss is a frail and meek looking man who served in World War II and says he stands ready to serve his country again if called upon. He says he expects his son, Desmond Doss Jr., 19, to do the same.

"When Uncle Sam gives orders, you do or die trying," Doss says.

What is unusual about Doss, 47, is that he is a conscientious objector — a Seventh-day Adventist — and the only conscientious objector to win the Medal of Honor.

A 126-pound former cabinet maker, Doss lost one lung and six ribs and suffered other serious injuries as result of duties in World War II. He now lives a quiet existence in this remote Lookout Mountain community.

Doss won the nation's highest military decoration as an army medic in the battle for Okinawa in 1945. His Medal of Honor citation credits him with the single-handed rescue of 75 men on a jagged escarpment. The citation said Doss — a private — showed "outstanding bravery and unflinching determination" in going beyond American lines to rescue the soldiers, bring them back under fire, and lower them from a 30-foot cliff on rope ladders.

Doss, who refused to touch a weapon or stand Saturday inspections because these things were contrary to his religion, was the butt of jokes and abuse when he was drafted in 1942.

But he refused a discharge. When other enlisted men threatened to kill him, Doss prayed for them.

"I couldn't kill anybody or anything," said Doss, whose 11-acre mountain farm is something of a wild animal sanctuary.

The Army finally made him a medic and shipped him to the Pacific in 1944.

He landed with troops of the 77th Infantry Division on Guam and Leyte, where he won the Bronze Star, and then moved on to Okinawa.

His feats of heroism came on a Saturday and Sunday when Japanese in concealed positions beat back an American advance and left scores of soldiers lying wounded.

Doss crawled among the soldiers, bandaging, administering morphine and plasma and lugging them to safety.

Finally wounded by a grenade, Doss lay on the battlefield for six hours before other medics reached him. But as he was being carried to a first aid tent, Doss saw other soldiers more seriously wounded. He crawled off the litter and refused to be evacuated.

Later he was shot by a sniper and crawled to first aid. Tough GIs wept when they saw him.

Doss said his son, who works in Chattanooga, Tenn., received a 1A draft classification recently.

"He has applied for a 1AO classification, which means he has religious reservations about carrying arms," said Doss.

Seventh-day Adventists don't volunteer for military service but they don't object to being drafted, Doss said.

"We should be called conscientious cooperators. We serve both God and country. The Bible teaches that a person should recognize the power of his government."

p.m. Sunday and in a short ceremony a plaque commemorating the late Dr. Harold Brents will be placed in front of the building. The Scout building will be open from 1 to 6 p.m. to visitors.

Wheels Halt in Town in Virginia

By ED YOUNG

ASHLAND, Va. (AP) — Friday, at the busiest hour of the busiest day of the week, all the wheels stop turning in this little college town in the Hanover County countryside 12 miles north of Richmond.

At the stroke of noon, every store, bank, office, will close its doors. Housewives will desert their kitchens. Students and faculty, at Randolph-Macon College will suspend classes.

And, because it's Good Friday — the sacred commemoration of Christ's crucifixion — everyone will go to church.

The worship at Duncan Memorial Methodist church, which also is the Randolph-Macon chapel, lasts until 1 p.m. Then the normal hustle and bustle of Friday business will resume.

It's been that way in this town of 3,000 since 1964, when the Ashland Ministerial Association won unanimous consent from the business community for its experiment.

Thus, in the minds of two young ministers — John R. Simon of the Christian Church — there grew the idea of a one-house service, with prominent preachers from outside the community, which everyone might attend.

Its success hinged on the ability of people to get to the church for 60 minutes.

The Chamber of Commerce balked at closing businesses at first.

So did Ashland's only Jewish business owner.

Randolph-Macon agreed to suspend its classes from noon to 1 p.m. on each Good Friday.

One by one, the local businesses fell in line as community pressure rose.

Only the Duncan Memorial church now is big enough to accommodate the crowd that turns out for the Good Friday service.

This year, the speaker will be the Rev. Zeh Holler, a Presbyterian minister working toward his doctorate at Richmond's Union Theological Seminary.

And all around town, the wheel of commerce will stop spinning while he talks.

Hal Boyle is ill.

Says Medicare Here to Stay

MILFORD, Conn. (AP) — Medicare "will soon be as American as apple pie," says Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn.

Ribicoff said in a speech. "Even some doctors, who fought Medicare in the past now feel that the law will mean more and better care for the aged."

Would End Domination of Big 3

By RON SPEER

Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Ken Venturi says it's time somebody ends the Big Three's domination of the Masters Golf Tournament, and the dapper Californian would like nothing better than to bump Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player out of the winner's circle.

"If somebody else wins, that might shake up the Big Three a little," said Venturi, one of the early starters today among 103 golfers in the opening round of the classic on the Augusta National Course.

Venturi, making his 10th Masters bid, is one of a handful of outsiders given a chance to whip the trio that has won the past six championships.

"My hands are feeling pretty good now, as long as it is hot," said the 34-year-old two-time runner-up whose career was nearly ended before an operation helped his hands, stiffened by a circulatory ailment.

"The drier the course gets, the better my chances are," added Venturi. "A lot more people will be in the running if the course get hard, because they will be able to keep up better with Nicklaus' driving."

Strong winds have dried the course during the past few days after it was softened by a Sunday rain.

"Nicklaus and Palmer definitely have to be reckoned with on this course, though, because there is no premium for accuracy and no substitute for length," he said.

Venturi twice just missed winning the Masters. In 1956 he almost became the first amateur to win the title, but after leading for three days shot himself out of the championship with an 80. In 1960 he lost by one stroke to Palmer, who also won the title in 1958, 1962 and 1964.

Those setbacks were forgotten by Venturi fans two years ago when he won the U.S. Open with a courageous showing on a hot, humid day in Washington.

"That's the kind of weather I'd like now," Venturi said.

Venturi was ranked with Doug Sanders, Bruce Devlin, Gay Brewer Jr., Tony Lema and Billy Casper as the most dangerous challengers to the Big Three.

Nicklaus and Palmer played a head-to-head practice nine Wednesday in their final tuneup, and finished even with one-under-par 35, Palmer said.

Both are working with new clubs. Nicklaus said he still doesn't feel comfortable with the driver he got after shattering in South Africa the driver he used since turning pro in 1962.

Player, who said he has been playing reasonably well in the practice rounds, has recovered from a bout with the gout that sidelined him last fall.

Challenges Law Vital to Revenue Dept.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Chancellor Murray O. Reed took under advisement Tuesday a law which challenges a regulation which the state Revenue Department says is vital to the state's protection of its revenues.

The suit brought by R. and B. Tobacco Co. of Forrest City questions a revenue department regulation that an applicant for a wholesale cigarette permit must furnish letters from at least three-fourths of the cigarette manufacturers that they will sell to the applicant on an open account.

Reed told attorneys to submit briefs to him within four weeks, because a "slightly different question of law" existed in the suit.

The Forrest City firm successfully challenged a state law — Act 416 of 1941 — which required the same thing of wholesalers, but Revenue Commissioner Doris McCallain made requirement a revenue department regulation. Reed avoided the act last June.

R. and B. owners said manufacturers had agreed to sell cigarettes to them after they receive a permit but declined to furnish letters.

Reed asked how any applicant could receive a permit if the manufacturers refuse to furnish letters or to supply the applicant until a permit had been granted. "That's our question," said Earl Briggs, one of the owners. C. W. Robertson is the other owner.

Kennedys Enroute to Argentina

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her two children, en route to spend Easter with friends on their ranch in Argentina, were greeted by an airport crowd of 1,000 cheering, waving Argentines Tuesday.

The president's widow, Caroline and John left by car for the 12,000-acre ranch of Dr. and Mrs. Miguel A. Carcano, about 50 miles from Cordoba.

The family group had flown to Cordoba from Buenos Aires where Mrs. Kennedy lunched with President Arthur Illia and his wife.

We Should Let Teachers Teach

Teachers continue to be among the leading groups of workers in the country who hold two jobs — in a word, moonlighters. They are, in fact, the No. 2 group, exceeded in numbers only by mailmen. The National Education Association believes that if women teachers, whose second jobs are usually in the home, were eliminated from consideration, teachers would rank ahead of the postmen.

According to the U.S. Labor Department's Monthly Labor Review, one out of five teachers was holding down a second job as of May 1965. The department wonders why this should be and suggests that teachers' comparatively flexible schedules may be a partial answer. It also suspects that money may have something to do with it.

Well, now, that just might be. The median annual earnings of elementary and secondary school teachers in 1964, says the department, was $6,677. The figure for all salaried workers (excluding teachers, engineers and health workers) was $7,746, or $1,069 more than teachers. The figure for "professional, technical and kindred" workers was $8,543 a year, or $1,866 more than teachers.

Evidently, teachers are not to be classes as "Professional," which may help explain why moonlighting behooves them.

Significantly, the kinds of end-meeting jobs teachers usually take have nothing to do with teaching. They include such work as gas station attendants, truck drivers and house painters. There is nothing wrong with these jobs, of course. But it does seem like a misapplication of talents. The Great Society ought to be able to do better — Gastonia (N.C.) Gazette

Experts Ponder Boom And Tax

Prominent economists, professing to see a startling vigor in the national economy, urge a note of caution. For the economy like a high-wire walker, it's a balance that counts. Also like the high-wire performer, mistakes are quite risky.

We have a controlled economy and control is tricky business. Guidelines are set. They have been made to stick in some areas of business but labor has said the unions will not abide by them. Controls over one bit of the economy without corresponding control over the other makes the whole scheme come apart. Balance is lost and gains by, for example, labor are lost in the inevitable spiral.

The private sector of the economy is going so strong that federal government spending should be curbed, but instead it is climbing on a do-everything crest. Checking government spending is far more difficult than slowing private spending, however, because of the cumbersome legislative machinery by which federal spending is done. The President has made an effort. He wants new lower budget figures.

The guns-and-butter budget exerts undue inflationary pressure. It seems far better to let the private sector of the economy generate all the vigor it can — in balance among profits, wages and prices that competition and antitrust laws can enforce — and check federal spending. There is no consensus from the experts on the proper course. Four top experts have four different answers. That is the state of the nation, it seems. — San Antonio (Tex.) Express and News

Farm Assistant at State Pen

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Penitentiary Board approved Wednesday employment of a general farm assistant, a part time dentist and a part time physician for the state prison farms at Grady and Cummins.

A. D. Nisler of Grady, former prison superintendent for 18 years, was appointed general farm assistant at $10,000 a year. Dr. Charles Barrett of Pine Bluff, a dentist, and Dr. J. B. Searey of Altheimer were hired on a part time basis.

J. D. Wood, board chairman, said the appointments — effective immediately — would serve to generally improve conditions for inmates at both prison farms.

To Speak at Union Easter Service Here

J. Robert Ashcroft

J. Robert Ashcroft, president of Evangel College, will speak at Easter Sunrise Service to be held at Hammons Stadium 6:30 a.m. this Sunday.

President Ashcroft has headed the college administration since 1958. Previously he served for four years as national secretary of education for the Assemblies of God. An ordained minister, his earlier experience includes service as a pastor and as a faculty member at Central Bible College.

Evangel College, located at Springfield, Missouri, is a four-year regionally accredited college of arts and sciences. Two local Hope High School graduates are sophomores there this year. They are Joe Hargis and Verna Gail Harmon.

During the summer of 1965 President Ashcroft took a two-month tour around the world, interviewing college students in Scandinavia, Russia, the Near East, India, southeast Asia, Japan, and Korea about their views of America and personal aspirations.

Teenagers in every country we visited were interested in higher education, but adequate facilities are available in only a few counties," President Ashcroft says. Rev. Ashcroft will be speaking in services at First Assembly of God on Sunday, Rev. Willhite, Pastor of the Church, announced.

Wants Socialite on City Payroll

NEW YORK (AP) — Bud Palmer, the city's commissioner of public events, says he wants to put socialite Sharmen Douglas on the city payroll as a hostess for official visitors.

The blonde daughter of Lewis Douglas, former ambassador to the court of St. James, has been working as a volunteer for three weeks, Palmer said Tuesday. "Nobody knows more about state functions, big dinners. She learned it all in London," Palmer noted. "Sharmie did a magnificent job of Indira Gandhi's visit here."

Miss Douglas was the official hostess for Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon during their recent visit to the city.

Presbyterian Candlelight Communion

The annual Candlelight Communion Service will be held at the Presbyterian Church tonight. The Sanctuary will be illuminated by candles only except for the illuminated Cross above the chancel.

One special feature of the appointments will be the tapestry portraying the Last Supper in the chancel windows, above and behind the communion table. Mr. G. M. Grigg will install the tapestry.

No hymnals will be used in the Service. Every part of the service will be carried out from memory, except for the music used by the organist. The members of the congregation will repeat their favorite Bible passages. They hymns will be sung from memory.

On Friday the congregation will observe a Day of Fasting, Expectancy and Thanksgiving concluded by the Evening Service.

Everyone is invited to attend these Services.

Young Fire Bugs Are Released
LONDON (AP) — A judge at London's Old Bailey Court today ordered the release of four youths accused of starting fires at seven London synagogues.

The judge said he was letting them go because they were penitent and had promised to abandon anti-Semitic activities. Police witnesses said the four were influenced by persons in Colin Jordan's British National Socialist Movement, a neo-Nazi group.

Post Office Dedication on Weekend

W. M. McMillan

A Post Office and Federal Building Dedication Dinner will be held Saturday evening at the Town & Country Restaurant at 7 o'clock, honoring those distinguished visitors who will have a part in the dedication ceremonies on Sunday afternoon.

Those expected to be in attendance at the dinner will be W. M. McMillan, Assistant Postmaster General of Washington, D. C., Judge Oren Harris of El Dorado, Congressman James W. Trimble of Washington, D. C., and Randolph Jackson, Regional Administrator of the General Services Administration, of Dallas, Texas and possibly some postal officials from Little Rock.

The dinner is open to the public and tickets are available at the First National Bank, the Citizens National Bank and the Chamber of Commerce office.

Tide Turned for U.S. as Riots Hits

By JOHN T. WHEELER
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Nam's latest government crisis erupted just as senior American military officials felt the tide of battle had begun to turn in their favor.

"If things continue to go as they have in the field, we're in," one U.S. officer said, summing up the feeling of the American command.

The Allied troops have taken the initiative from the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops. Massive American firepower, constant bombing and relentless pressure on Communist strongholds have produced impressive results.

Some senior sources concede the picture isn't quite as bright as the daily announcements make it appear.

Two of the most quoted statistics are enemy bodies counted and the number of Viet Cong defectors. One senior official said he automatically cuts body count figures in half. Another says the current rate of more than 2,000 defectors a month includes a large number of refugees and a high percentage of persons in the fringe of the Communist movement. The number of hardcore fighting troops crossing over to the government side is considered small.

Sturgis Due to Tell of Secret Pay Increases

By JOHN R. STARR

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The full story of a complicated plan to finance a salary increase for Highway Department administrators and engineers with federal funds was expected to come today from former Highway Director Mack Sturgis.

Sturgis, the man in the middle of an erupting controversy over the unannounced pay raises, told newsmen Wednesday that he would have a complete statement today.

Meanwhile, Wayne Hampton of Stuttgart, highway commission chairman, was preparing to launch his own investigation and the Republican Party called for a top-to-bottom probe of the Highway Department.

The pay increases were in effect during the March 15-April 1 pay period, but they were not revealed until Tuesday, when a newsmen received an anonymous letter, apparently from a minor highway department employee.

Authority for the increases finally was cancelled by state Comptroller L. A. Mashburn, after a telephone conference with Gov. Orval Faubus.

Faubus, who has said he will not seek a seventh term, told Mashburn to revoke the authority. It was not clear whether he had approved the pay raise plan in the first place.

Mashburn and Sturgis said they conferred with Faubus before Mashburn last month issued a letter authorizing the Highway Department to implement Act 18 of 1965, a supplementary highway Department appropriation.

The act allocated expenditure of up to $2,385,000 in federal funds anticipated under various development programs.

Mashburn said that he was told in a letter from Sturgis that $776,000 was available under the act.

"The act authorized hiring of additional employees to handle new federal employees," Mashburn said. "It looked like a good deal." We did not know that the Highway Department planned to use the money to give raises to existing employees.

This apparently is what happened, however. Sturgis issued an order increasing the salaries of 45 top men shortly before he resigned April 1 to return to his old job as state purchasing agent. Sturgis, who is recovering from a heart attack, said the highway job was too demanding physically.

The salary increases ranged up to $275 a month for assistant director Y. W. Wheelchel. Wheelchel said most of the federal money mentioned in Sturgis' letter involved a $677,000 appropriation from the federal highway Beautification Act of 1965.

Neither Wheelchel or anyone else could explain how beautification funds could be used for salary increases.

Auto Safety Standards to Be Overhauled

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Warren G. Magnuson predicted today the Senate Commerce Committee which he heads will call for mandatory safety standards for cars.

Magnuson told newsmen this seemed to be the feeling of a majority of the members of the committee, which concluded hearings Wednesday on President Johnson's highway safety legislation.

Magnuson said he thought the committee would amend the bill to direct that standards be issued and also to require the adoption of interim standards pending further research and testing.

Such temporary standards, Magnuson said, could be worked out after consultation with the industry. He said they could provide for collapsible steering wheels, dual brakes and "other things the industry apparently is going to do anyway."

Brooks Hays Says He Can Beat Alford

By WAYMAN C. DUNLAP

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Arkansas congressman Brooks Hays, denying that he was yet a candidate for governor, said here Wednesday night that if he were he could beat Dr. Dale Alford.

Alford defeated Hays in 1958 when Hays ran for re-election as a U.S. representative and is considered a potential candidate for governor this year.

In 1958, one year after the so-called "integration crisis" in Little Rock, Alford ran on what was regarded as a strong segregationist platform, while Hays was considered a liberal.

Neither of the men has said definitely whether they will run for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination this year but Hays said Wednesday night he hoped to make a decision within ten days.

He said he would come to Little Rock to announce his decision. One way or the other.

Should he run, Hays was asked what would be his platform.

"I'm standing exactly where I did in 1958," the 67-year-old presidential adviser said. "My stand hasn't deviated one bit."

U.S. Jeep Is Burned by Saigon Rioters

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Hundreds of antigovernment demonstrators poured toward downtown Saigon tonight and burned a U.S. military police jeep a few hours after Buddhist leaders demanded that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime pledge publicly to give way to a civilian government in five or six months.

No Americans were reported injured.

"End the war immediately," said one of the banners carried by the demonstrators.

A battalion of paratroopers waded into the rioters and sent them scurrying down side streets. Some began regrouping to continue their descent on the downtown area in the fifth continuous day of unrest in the capital's streets.

The Buddhist hierarchy earlier instructed its militant young supporters to remain quiet until the junta replied to its request for a public pledge to turn over power to a popularly elected constituent assembly within five or six months.

The Buddhist statement said the government had promised this privately.

Hopes that the month-long political crisis was easing a bit were jolted when 500 demonstrators emerged from the Buddhist compound on the outskirts of the city. As they marched toward the center of the city with their familiar antigovernment banners, they attracted hundreds of supporters.

Until then a strange calm had prevailed in Saigon, with no sign of any antigovernment anti-American agitators.

Heavy fighting flared 20 miles northwest of Saigon between the U.S. 25th Infantry Division and the Viet Cong.

Yesterd at midafternoon on Highway 67, four miles east of Hope, a large Atlas Truck driven by James Frazier of Marietta, Texas ran into the back end of a smaller truck loaded with railway workers and one man was killed.

The dead man was listed as W. A. Nelson, 43, of Batesville, Ark. He was thrown from the truck and died early Thursday in a Little Rock hospital where he was taken for treatment.

Also injured was J. A. Roberts 50, of Wynn, Ark. who sustained a foot injury. The driver of the Missouri Pacific gang truck, Virgil Floyd Brook of Newark, and four others escaped serious injury.

State Police Bob Cockman investigate and charged Frazier with driving while intoxicated. Frazier was not hurt.

Wants Agreements on Pollution

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The director of the Arkansas Pollution Control Commission said Tuesday that the state hoped to draw up formal agreements with neighboring states on pollution criteria and water use.

This, said M. L. Wood, would be done to help satisfy the requirement of the Water Quality Act of 1965.

The states have to formulate their own criteria by June 30, 1967, of the federal government can step in with its own controls and enforcement policies. States have to submit letters of intent by Oct. 1.

Youth Asked For Help
This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help US! this newspaper.

"Waits" and Measures
Dear Helen: I just broke up with this boy, rather he broke up with me, and a day later I found out I liked another boy, who also likes me. How long should I wait to accept a date with him so people won't talk? — HOW LONG?

Dear H.L.: Approximately a half of minute, and maybe you can shave that by ten seconds. Honey, there's no such thing as a "proper mourning period" when a boyfriend tells you to "Drop dead!" — H.

Dear Helen: Do you think a 15-year-old girl is old enough for a phone of her own, and also old enough to shave her legs?

I'm willing to pay for the installation and the monthly bill, and I wouldn't overdo it. The way it is now, my folks have business calls and the phone is never free. If I'm on it more than 10 minutes, I get blamed for ruining a sale or something. I baby-sit all the time, so I'm solvent.

My mother says shaving the legs makes the hair grow faster and coarser. She says peroxide it, but who wants blonde fuzz?

Would you let me, if you were my parents? — R. T.

Dear R: On shaving legs: yes! It does NOT make the hair grow faster and coarser, and it's definitely a part of good grooming, from early teens on through life.

On private telephones for teens: I've said it before and I will say it again — this is like car ownership. When you can manage the cost and the upkeep from your own earnings, without shorting yourself on more important things (such as college savings), and when you Prove you're mature enough to manage the responsibility — my vote is YES. — H.

The Commonest Problem
Dear Helen: My problem is simple. I'm 15, blonde and unhappy.

I have a crush on a boy in some of my classes and have had it for eight months. He doesn't (almost) know I exist. Once in a while I catch him staring at me. He doesn't go to parties, and he gets all "S's." About the only time he talks to me is when I ask him a question about the homework, and that's not much because I don't want to appear forward.

Do you have any suggestions? I'm not THAT bad looking! — OO-Sad

Dear ???: Lots of 15-year-old Type-"A" boys just aren't ready yet for girls. Interested yes, but scared. Treat him as a good buddy and let him discover you are a female at his own speed.

And how do you hit that "good buddy" plateau? Smile and be friendly, but not girly-friendly. He'll talk when you get across you're an everyday kid, not a blonde who might make him forget he doesn't like dames. — H.

Dear Helen: I'm a boy 14 years and have a question other students would like answered

Traditional Easter Meals to Cost More

By SALLY RYAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Traditional Easter dinners may cost a bit more this year than last, but good shoppers will find generally lower prices this week-end than they have in months.
Stores are offering specials on ham, turkey and leg of lamb. Ham prices are down as much as 5 cents a pound on the West Coast. Turkey is down 2 cents and lamb 3 cents.
There are plenty of eggs for the Easter bunny, with prices down 2 to 4 cents a dozen at a New York City area supermarket chain.
Butter is down as much as 1 1/2 cents a pound, but that may not last. Wholesale prices on fresh butter rose this week. Butter production the week ended April 1 was down 27 per cent from a year ago.
Milk, cheese and other dairy products may be going up, too. The food industry is scrapping last year's "food is a bargain" campaign for one emphasizing family well-being.
Even President Johnson took notice of food prices this past week. He asked housewives to keep an eye on items on which prices were rising, and then try to eliminate them from their shopping lists.
The federal government reported a further decline in farm prices — and eventually consumers' food bills — appears probable this month, with ample supplies of pork, eggs, poultry and vegetables.

The first Florida peas and Texas celery of the season are moving to the market, along with increasing strawberry shipments from Louisiana and Texas.
Pole bean, carrot, celery, and d'Arce and cantaloupe prices are lower in some areas. Higher are cucumbers, onions, peppers, tomatoes, cauliflowers, bananas and grapes.
Temperatures in the 90s in the California delta have hurried along the asparagus crop, which is crowding into the market.
Tuna fishing is improving. The California canners packed 59 per cent more cases the week ended March 26 than a year ago.
The reign of Queen Victoria was the longest in British history—64 years.

Proud Californians may not wish to acknowledge the existence millions of years ago of another type of mighty redwood tree. But there was one. The dawn redwood, the most abundant fossil conifer of the northern hemisphere, appeared during the age of the dinosaurs and became extinct in North America and Europe during the Miocene epoch some 15 million years ago. It lingered on into the Pliocene epoch in Japan, and in the 1940s was found living in remote valleys of China.

East's Discards Aids Strategy

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners

One of the most interesting hands in Dorothy Hayden's new book illustrates the great value of giving your partner a count by means of a high low discard to show that you started with an even number of cards in some suit. South gets to six no-trump after opening the bidding with an artificial forcing two club bid. If West opens any suit but spades South will simply concede a trick to the ace of hearts and make his contract without any trouble but West opens the nine of spades and South sees that he will never be able to bring home dummy's six card heart suit.

He wins the first trick in dummy and takes a club finesse. Then he knocks out East's ace of hearts. East plays a second spade and South is in dummy for the last time. He takes a second club finesse but still must lose a trick to West's jack of diamonds provided West knows enough to guard that card instead of his ten of clubs.

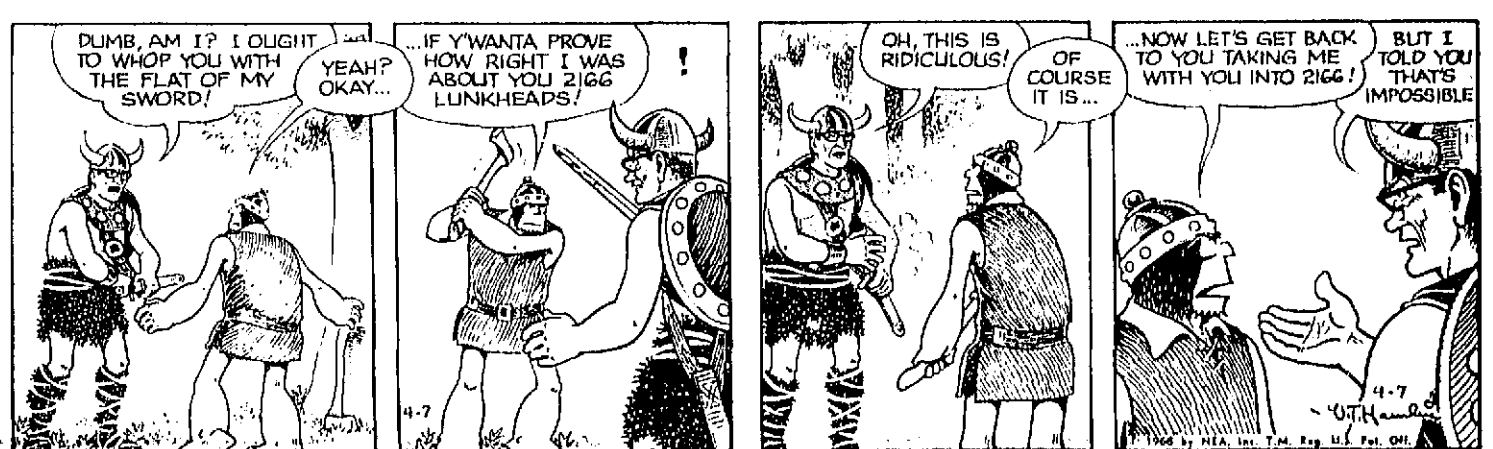

In most games there would be an excellent chance for West to go wrong. South would cash his queen and jack of hearts and West would have to make two discards. He could throw a spade and a diamond with no worries but then South would cash his third spade and West would be in trouble. He would probably guess right and throw a club but the count signal would give him a sure thing play.

East should play the four of clubs on the first lead of the suit and the deuce of clubs next. This play would show an even number of clubs. West would know that East had started with either two or four. If two South would have started with five clubs to the top four honors and West's clubs would have no value. If he had started with four then South could not hold a low club and again West's clubs would have no value. Hence West could discard a club and lose nothing by so doing.

Cincinnati Has Chance in the National

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Maloney and Sammy Ellis, Cincinnati's answer to Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, may not make fans forget the Dodgers duo, but they could lead the pitching-rich Reds to the National League pennant.

Although Koufax and Drysdale have returned to the Dodgers staff following a collective 32-day holdout, the addition of trade-acquired Milt Pappas and Jack Baldschun to the Reds' pitching staff figures to lift them to the top spot for the first time since 1961.

But Maloney and Ellis will have to do for the Reds what Koufax and Drysdale did for the world champion Dodgers last year — provided that Extra teams need to come out in front in the perennial five or six-team battle for the NL flag. The Cincinnati duo won 42 games between them last year, joining Koufax and Drysdale as the only 20-victory pairs in the majors. Maloney outdid Koufax in one department by pitching two no-hitters, and Ellis put together his 23 victories in his first season as a starter.

Here then is the predicted order of finish:

1. Cincinnati
2. Atlanta
3. San Francisco
4. Los Angeles
5. Philadelphia
6. Pittsburgh
7. Chicago
8. Houston
9. St. Louis
10. New York

The Cubs can't win the pennant, even with Leo Durocher as manager. The Astros still are building, the Cardinals are rebuilding and the Mets still are trying to lay the foundation.

That leaves six possibilities, and any one of them could wind up on top after game No. 162. However, the edge seems to be with the Reds because of their strong pitching.

For starters there are Maloney, Ellis, Pappas, veterans Joey Jay, Joe Nuxhall and John Tsitouris and Jim O'Toole, who had a disastrous 1965, with a 3-10 record but at 29 should be able to make a substantial comeback.

Baldschun, who appeared in 65 games for Philadelphia last year, adds strength to the bullpen that was weak last season. He will join fireballing Billy McCool, giving the Reds a solid righty-lefty combine.

To get Pappas, the Reds gave up hard-hitting Frank Robinson, but there shouldn't be too much of a drop-off in run production with such bats in the line-up as Deron Johnson, Gordy Coleman, Vada Pinson, Pete Rose, young, improving Tommy Harper and rookie infielder Tommy Helms.

Atlanta has all the ingredients with heavy hitting in Hank Aaron, Joe Torre and Ed Matthews plus solid pitching in 24-game winner Tony Cloninger, Ken Johnson and Wade Blasingame. The Braves also may be helped psychologically by having left Milwaukee.

The Giants have the incomparable Willie Mays and one of the best pitchers in the business, Juan Marchal. That's enough to make them pennant material. In addition, Lindy McDaniel will be valuable in the bullpen.

With Koufax, Drysdale and Maury Wills, the Dodgers have to be a contender. But the big question is how much the two hurlers will be affected by the 32 days they were away from camp.

If they can catch up quickly, the Dodgers will be right up there. If they fall behind at the start, the defending champs may have trouble catching up.

The Phillies again have shuffled their cards, acquiring Bill White and Dick Groat to go with a hard-hitting combine of Rich Allen and Johnny Callison. Jim Bunning, Chris Short and Ray Culp form a top crew of starters.

The Pirates also have heavy shellers in Willie Stargell, Donn Clendenon and batting champions boric to Clemente, Vern Law, Bob Veale, and Don Cardwell, along with reliever Al McBean, form a solid pitching corps.

Still, Cincinnati would seem to have the edge in pitching quality. It was good enough for the Dodgers last year, and it should be good enough for the Reds this year.

Detroit Seems Good Bet in the American

NEW YORK (AP) — Picking the American League used to be a breeze. Put the Yankees on top, Washington at the bottom and then fill in the spaces. It doesn't work out that way any more.

It probably is safe to eliminate Kansas City, Boston and Washington before a bat is swung in anger. After that sixth-place finish, 25 games back, New York almost goes into the same category. Almost, but not quite.

There are those who believe the Yankees still may awaken and regain their lost glory. However, they are in the minority. Mickey Mantle is only a pinch hitter, Tony Kubek is retired and Jim Bouton still is looking for that fast ball.

This shapes up like a typical National League-type race with five of six teams having a chance at it. Minnesota has the bombers and Baltimore has added Frank Robinson's power. Eddie Stanky has the Chicago White Sox hustling and Cleveland is thinking big.

Granted that every club has a weakness that could prove fatal, Detroit looks like the best bet to this observer with a good balance of young and experienced pitching and pretty fair sock.

Chuck Dressen will cook the chili and pull the strings. All he needs is a solid bullpen man and a little bit of luck in avoiding injuries.

At this time of year on a clear day you can see forever. It may look different in October. The following predicted order is guaranteed to put the kiss of death on the Tigers:

1. Detroit
2. Baltimore
3. Minnesota
4. Chicago
5. New York
6. Cleveland
7. California
8. Washington
9. Boston
10. Kansas City

Dressen can match any staff with Denny McLain, Joe Sparrman, Mickey Lolich from the kiddie corps and Bill Monbouquette and Hank Aguirre from the oldsters. With Dave Wickersham for relief or spot starts, it looks like the best staff in the league.

A healthy Al Kaline and the slugging of Willie Horton and Norm Cash give Detroit solid run potential. The infield is solid, but not brilliant, and the addition of Dick Tracecki to back up the regulars should help. The Tigers are very thin in catching behind Bill Freehan.

Baltimore has the big boom with Boog Powell, Frank Robinson, Curt Blefary and Brooks Robinson but the absence of Dick Brown, who underwent brain surgery, leaves a gap in the catching department. It remains to be seen if Han Bauer can find enough pitching to make up for the loss of Milt Pappas to Cincinnati. Dave McNally and Steve Barber on the starting line and Dick Hall and Stu Miller in the bullpen are the solid staff members.

There is a disposition to believe that the Twins won't do it again but this may be a horrible mistake. With Harmon Killebrew, Tony Oliva, Don Mincher, Jimmie Hall and Zolo Versalles the defending champs have plenty of muscle. A second base gap and a leaky defense are the drawbacks. A healthy Camilo Pascual and a repeat of 1965 by Mudcat Grant could carry the Twins right into another World Series.

Stanky has been doing it with mirrors so far this spring, just like Al Lopez did for years with the White Sox. The pitching is only as solid as the bullpen pair of Eddie Fisher and Hoyt Wilhelm, who has been handicapped by a broken finger. The Sox hung in there last year, finishing second with Juan Pizarro winning only six games. If Eddie can do better he should be the manager of the year.

The Yanks' problems are many, starting with Mantle who has been limited to pinch hitting duties as he recuperates from shoulder surgery. Roger Maris appears to be back in the groove and Elston Howard is healthy.

Whitey Ford and Mel Stottlemyre are the solid pitchers. Two rookies, Roy White and Bobby Murcer, can hit but it remains to be seen if they can do the job in the field.

Cleveland packs good power in Rocky Colavito, Leon Wagner, Max Alvis and Fred Whitfield. Sam McDowell, Sonny Siebert and Luis Tiant provide a pitching nucleus.

The Angels hope to make a splash in their new Anaheim, Calif., home but the first division probably is beyond reach. Washington's pitchers have been getting bombed in the South and Gil Hodges may be pressed to hold eighth place. Boston still hits homers, but the youth program still is light years away.

$1.9 Million for State From Racing
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Revenue Department said Wednesday that the 1966 Oaklawn Park horse race meeting produced $1,906,717 from betting.

The state also got 10 cents of every $1 paid for admission. The 1966 state share, increased this year from 5 to 6 per cent of the betting, was higher than last year's $1,720,028, the previous top mark.

Total bet this year was $28,781,789, compared to $27,560,979 during the 1965 meeting. Attendance increased from 407,392 to 422,879, but was below the record 450,000 in 1964.

Robinson Hits Homer, Orioles Defeat Yanks

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fortunately for the Baltimore Orioles, Frank Robinson is not four years younger.

If he were, the 30-year-old Robinson probably would still be with the Cincinnati Reds, and the Orioles would not have his potent bat to help them in their quest for the American League pennant.

Robinson socked his eighth homer of the spring Wednesday, a two-run blast that gave the Orioles a 2-0 victory over the New York Yankees.

The veteran outfielder rapped three hits, raising his exhibition average to .388. The homer, following Curt Blefary's double in the sixth inning, increased his runs batted in total to 17.

eventual winning run. Dick Stuart hit a three-run homer for the Mets in the eighth.

Cleveland nipped Los Angeles 6-5 on Bill Davis' bases-loaded, run-scoring single in the ninth. Three amateur skindivers say Duke Sims and Larry Brown they have recovered about $700,000 worth of old gold and silver.

Eddie Mathews homered in the first inning and sparked French pay ship that sank off Atlanta to a 3-1 victory over Cape Breton Island in 1725. Houston while Ty Cline's run-scoring single and Wes Covington's sacrifice fly gave the Chicago Cubs a 3-1 victory over the wreck of the ship Le Chameau California.

Kansas City defeated Washington 5-1 with a 14-hit attack, including three hits each by Bert Campaneris, Jose Tartabull and Ken Suarez.

Rookie Ollie Brown slugged a grand-slam homer in San Francisco's 13-4 decision over its Phoenix farm team.

Try Pole Beans In Vegetable Medley

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Pole beans coming from Florida now are almost twice as long and fleshy as the more familiar snap (bush) beans.

Try this particularly tender bean in combination with tomatoes, onion, green pepper and Cheddar cheese in a delicious casserole. That is truly good eating.

FRESH VEGETABLE CREOLE (Serves 6)

- 4 cups fresh pole beans, cut into 2-inch pieces
- 1/4 cup coarsely chopped onion
- 3 tablespoons diced green pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 cups fresh tomatoes, peeled and quartered
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1/2 cup crumbled soda crackers
- 1/2 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese

In saucepan with 1-inch of boiling water, cook beans 5 minutes uncovered, then reduce heat and cook covered about 15 minutes or until beans are tender. Drain. In small skillet, saute onion and green pepper in butter or margarine about 5 minutes. Into a 1 1/2-quart casserole combine beans, tomatoes, salt, ground black pepper and onion mixture. Toss lightly. Top with crumbled crackers. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake, covered, in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) about 15 minutes. Continue

Torrential Rains Leave 16 Dead

HONG KONG (AP) — Flood waters and landslides after a night of torrential rain killed at least 16 persons today in this British crown colony.

The rampaging waters swept 10 work men into a reservoir tunnel. Rescuers found all but one body. A mother and her three children were killed when their house was buried by tons of earth and rock.

Other landslides in Hong Kong's hillside squatter area took three more lives.

The storms dumped eight inches of rain on the colony in six hours.

Kraut, Franks Are a Hearty Treat

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Tartars originally brought kraut to Germany from China, where workers on the Great Wall enjoyed cabbage fermented in wine. The Germans named it sauerkraut and teamed it with the frankfurter, first made by a pork butcher in 1559.

Our kraut today is more evenly shredded and milder in taste.

KRAUT AND FRANK- FURTER PLANKED DINNER (Serves 6)

- 3 1/2 cups drained sauerkraut
- 3 medium tomatoes, halved
- 1 can (8-oz.) whole white onions, drained
- 3 cups seasoned, mashed potatoes
- 12 frankfurters, scored

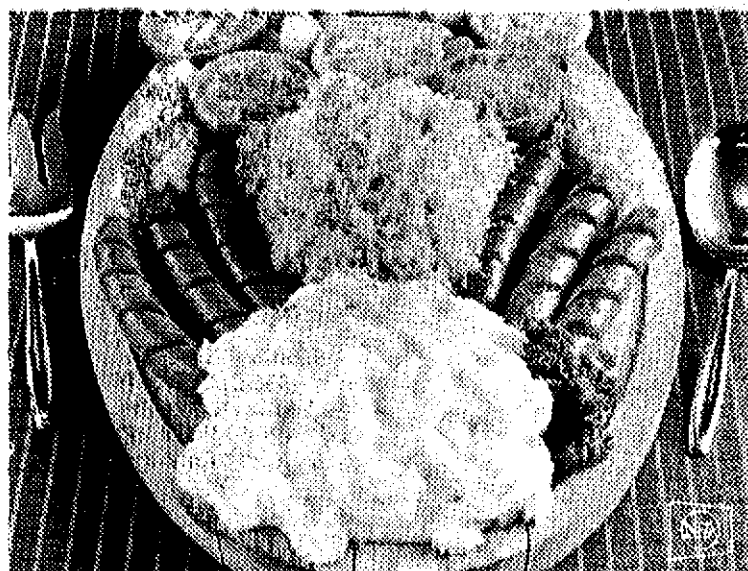

- 1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Arrange kraut, tomato halves, onions, frankfurters and potatoes on plank. Combine remaining ingredients; mix well. Brush tomatoes, onions, frankfurters and potatoes with part of butter mixture. Pour remaining butter mixture over kraut. Broil 5-6 inches from source of heat 7 to 8 minutes, turning frankfurters and onions once during broiling period. Garnish with parsley, if desired.

Serve California Strawberries

STRAWBERRIES-IN-THE-SNOW is a springtime dessert treat.

Beautiful fresh strawberries are coming to market now from California. Which suggests a delightful chilled springtime dessert—ideal for Mother's Day dinner—called "Strawberries-in-the-Snow."

Strawberries, custard and meringues are prepared in advance and put together in a matter of seconds just before serving.

STRAWBERRIES-IN-THE-SNOW (Serves 6)

- 1 pint fresh strawberries
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar
- 3 eggs, separated
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs, unseparated
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
- 3 cups milk
- 2 teaspoons vanilla

Reserving 6 whole strawberries, slice remainder, toss lightly with 2 tablespoons of the sugar and chill.

Preparing meringues follows: Beat egg whites and $\frac{1}{8}$ -teaspoon salt until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add 6 tablespoons of the sugar and beat stiff. Drop 6 spoonfuls of meringue into simmering (not boiling) water in a large skillet. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Remove from water with slotted spoon and drain.

on paper towels. Chill.

Preparing custard: Beat together egg yolks, unseparated eggs, remaining $\frac{1}{4}$ -cup sugar and $\frac{1}{8}$ -teaspoon salt. Stir in milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and coats a metal spoon. Add vanilla and chill.

Just before serving, place sliced strawberries in 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -quart bowl. Pour custard over strawberries and float meringues on top, garnishing each with a whole strawberry.

New Shades Highlight Lip

New lipstick shades are to be worn alone or in combination. Colors such as a soft dawn pink and a sunset tone look well together. Apply the deeper shade first and then the lighter shade to highlight the lower lip.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Cultivate Safe Habits In Working Your Garden

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Voltaire's Candide admonished his friend to cultivate his garden. Let me add a few details on how to do this with safety. If you are out of condition after a winter spent chiefly indoors, work into your gardening activities gradually.

Blisters can be minimized by wearing gloves but, if they occur, you must take steps to prevent infection. This will not happen so long as the blister is not broken. Since the blister was caused in the first place by friction, continued friction will not only aggravate the pain but will also increase the chance of its rupturing.

If the blister is small, cover it with an adhesive bandage. Don't open it with a needle because, even if you sterilize the needle, there is danger that it will carry germs from the skin surface into the blister. If the blister is large and likely to break or is already broken the best plan is to wash the skin with soap and water, swab it with rubbing alcohol or other antiseptic and cut away the covering skin completely. Then treat it as an open wound with a protective dressing.

Because tetanus spores lurk in the soil you should be sure to get your toxoid booster before you start digging unless you have had a booster within the past 10 years. In any case, if you incur a deep wound that is contaminated with soil, you should get a booster regardless of the interval.

Avoid exhaustion and prevent accidents by storing all tools in a safe place when they are not in use. All pointed and sharp-edged tools, when laid down temporarily even for a few seconds, should have their points or edges turned down.

Finally, in your use of pesticides, familiarize yourself with the directions before you use them and keep them out of reach of children.

Q—My internist tells me I should have a fluoroscopic examination of my colon at least once a year to rule out cancer. I have had this done three times but it is so painful I wonder if there isn't an easier way to check up on my digestive tract.

A—Whenever there is any reason (age or symptoms) to suspect cancer, an annual checkup should be made. This would include fluoroscopy with a barium drink and a barium enema and a direct view with a proctoscope. These procedures are admittedly unpleasant but are decidedly worth-while.

Sink or Swim

NEW YORK—(NEA)—One night Lew Burdette, now with the California Angels, was pitching for Milwaukee and Norm Larker was with the Dodgers.

Larker was convinced Burdette was throwing spitters and he told plate umpire Frank Secory about it.

"No," Secory replied. "Those are sinkers."

"Sinkers," snapped Larker. "One of those sinkers just splashed me in the eye."

Newton D. Baker, former U.S. secretary of war, was the proposer of Arlington Cemetery as the site for the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Taxing Day

NEW YORK—(NEA)—When Jake Gibbs, the former University of Mississippi quarterback, reported to the New York Yankees to begin a baseball career, he was greeted by Whitey Ford.

"Hey, Jake," Whitey said. "I just took a phone call for you. Your coach at Ole Miss says you forgot to pay income tax for your last two years there."

Political Writers Have Nightmares

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Political writers have nightmares, too. Consider this one.

At 11:30 a.m. on April 27, Gov. Orval Faubus, flanked by two grim state troopers stroled into the Republican Party offices in the Tower Building.

"I want to file," he said, "as a candidate for governor."

"I...I think you're in the wrong place, governor," stammered the secretary. "This is Republican headquarters."

"I'm in the right place," Faubus said, grinning. "Give me the papers."

"B.B., But you're a Democrat," the girl protested.

"So were most of your other candidates," Faubus said, putting pen to paper. He handed the paper to the secretary and gave her $1,500 in dimes, gathered, he said, among his Republican friends in Combs.

"I'm not sure..." the girl began.

"Of course you are," Faubus said. "The man who runs things here has said his party welcomes all qualified candidates. I'm qualified. I've even had a little experience on the job."

With a grimace, the girl wrote out a receipt for the filing fee.

Faubus went immediately to the Marion Hotel where Secretary of State Kelly Bryant had just accepted a filing fee from the 40th Democratic candidate for governor.

A cheer went up as Faubus entered the room.

"I told you," cried a hanger-on. "I knew he'd change his mind."

Faubus got in line behind five would-be Democratic candidates for governor. All five ducked their heads and scurried out of the room. Faubus moved to the desk, elbowing through other Democratic candidates rushing to withdraw.

Bryant handed him a Democratic Party pledge and a corrupt practice pledge. Faubus signed the latter and handed it back to Bryant along with his receipt.

"Republican!" Bryant screamed.

"Republican," Faubus said, winking.

Shaking his head, Bryant wrote Faubus' name into the ledger under the name of Winthrop Rockefeller.

Newsman crowded around Faubus as the noon deadline arrived and Bryant declared the ticket closed.

"But you said just a week ago that you were definitely out," protested one. "You said you flat wouldn't run. No loopholes."

"I said I wouldn't run in the Democratic primary," Faubus said. "You assumed that meant I wouldn't run. I always have a rabbit hole. You know that."

But on the Republican ticket

"It was the only way to satisfy everybody," Faubus said with a grin of innocence. "One side criticized me for dominating the Democratic Party. Now I'm out of it. I was criticized on the other hand for abandoning the state to Rockefeller. Now I haven't done that either."

"You can't be serious," a newsman said.

"Wait and see," Faubus replied. He nodded to the troopers and they cleared a path for him through the crowd. He left smiling, serenaded by the clatter of Democratic lapel buttons being dropped to the floor and crunching under heel.

"Forty Democratic candidates and two Republicans," Bryant said to the newsman. "You boys ought to have an interesting summer."

We Should Let Teachers Teach

Teachers continue to be among the leading groups of workers in the country who hold two jobs — in a word, moonlighters. They are, in fact, the No. 2 group, exceeded in numbers only by mailmen. The National Education Association believes that if women teachers, whose second jobs are usually in the home, were eliminated from consideration, teachers would rank ahead of the postmen.

According to the U.S. Labor Department's Monthly Labor Review, one out of five teachers was holding down a second job as of May 1965. The department wonders why this should be and suggests that teachers' comparatively flexible schedules may be a partial answer. It also suspects that money may have something to do with it.

Well, now, that just might be. The median annual earnings of elementary & secondary school teachers in 1964, says the department, was $6,677. The figure for all salaried workers (excluding teachers, engineers and health workers) was $7,746, or $1,069 more than teachers. The figure for "professional, technical and kindred" workers was $8,543 a year, or $1,866 more than teachers.

Evidently, teachers are not to be classes as "Professional," which may help explain why moonlighting behooves them. Significantly, the kinds of end-meeting jobs teachers usually take have nothing to do with teaching. They include such work as gas station attendants, truck drivers and house painters. There is nothing wrong with these jobs, of course. But it does seem like a misapplication of talents. The Great Society ought to be able to do better — Gastonia (N.C.) Gazette

Prominent economists, professing to see a startling vigor in the national economy, urge a note of caution. For the economy like a high-wire walker, it's a balance that counts. Also like the high-wire performer, mistakes are quite risky. We have a controlled economy and control is tricky business. Guidelines are set. They have been made to stick in some areas of business but labor has said the unions will not abide by them. Controls over one bit of the economy without corresponding control over the other makes the whole scheme come apart. Balance is lost and gains by, for example, labor are lost in the inevitable spiral.

The private sector of the economy is going so strong that federal government spending should be curbed, but instead it is climbing on a do-everything crest. Checking government spending is far more difficult than slowing private spending, however, because of the cumbersome legislative machinery by which federal spending is done. The President has made an effort. He wants lower budget figures.

The guns-and-butter budget exerts undue inflationary pressure. It seems far better to let the private sector of the economy generate all the vigor it can — in balance among profits, wages and prices that competition and antitrust laws can enforce — and check federal spending. There is no consensus from the experts on the proper course. Four top experts have four different answers. That is the state of the nation, it seems. — San Antonio (Tex.) Express and News

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Penitentiary Board approved Wednesday employment of a general farm assistant, a part time physician for the state prison farms at Grady and Cummins.

A. D. Nisler of Grady, former prison superintendent for 18 years, was appointed general farm assistant at $10,000 a year. Dr. Charles Barrett of Pine Bluff, a dentist, and Dr. J. B. Searcy of Altheimer were hired on a part time basis.

J. D. Wood, board chairman, said the appointments — effective immediately — would serve to generally improve conditions for inmates at both prison farms.

To Speak at Union Easter Service Here

J. Robert Ashcroft

J. Robert Ashcroft, president of Evangel College, will speak at Easter Sunrise Service to be held at Hammons Stadium 6:30 a.m. this Sunday.

President Ashcroft has headed the college administration since 1958. Previously he served for four years as national secretary of education for the Assemblies of God. An ordained minister, his earlier experience includes service as a pastor and as a faculty member at Central Bible College.

Evangel College, located at Springfield, Missouri, is a four-year regionally accredited college of arts and sciences. Two local Hope High School graduates are sophomores there this year. They are Joe Hargis and Verna Gail Harmon.

During the summer of 1965 President Ashcroft took a two-month tour around the world, interviewing college students in Scandinavia, Russia, the Near East, India, southeast Asia, Japan, and Korea about their views of America and personal aspirations.

"Teenagers in every country we visited were interested in higher education, but adequate facilities are available in only a few countries," President Ashcroft says. Rev. Ashcroft will be speaking in services at First Assembly of God on Sunday, Rev. Willhite, Pastor of the Church, announced.

Wants Socialite on City Payroll

NEW YORK (AP) — Bud Palmer, the city's commissioner of public events, says he wants to put socialite Sharrman Douglas on the city payroll as a hostess for official visitors.

The blonde daughter of Lewis Douglas, former ambassador to the court of St. James, has been working as a volunteer for three weeks, Palmer said Tuesday.

"Nobody knows more about state functions, big dinners. She learned it all in London," Palmer noted. "Sharrmie did a magnificent job of Indira Gandhi's visit here."

Miss Douglas was the official hostess for Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon during their recent visit to the city.

Presbyterian Candlelight Communion

The annual Candlelight Communion Service will be held at the Presbyterian Church tonight. The Sanctuary will be illumined by candles only except for the illuminated Cross above the chancel.

One special feature of the appointments will be the tapestry portraying the Last Supper in the chancel windows, above and behind the communion table.

Mr. G. M. Grigg will install the tapestry. No hymns will be used in the Service. Every part of the service will be carried out from memory, except for the music used by the organist. The members of the congregation will repeat their favorite Bible passages. They hymns will be sung from memory.

On Friday the congregation will observe a Day of Fasting, Expectancy and Thanksgiving concluded by the Evening Service.

Everyone is invited to attend these Services.

Young Fire Bugs Are Released

LONDON (AP) — A judge at London's Old Bailey Court today ordered the release of four youths accused of starting fires at seven London synagogues. The judge said he was letting them go because they were penitent and had promised to abandon anti-Semitic activities.

Police witnesses said the four were influenced by persons in Colin Jordan's British National Socialist Movement, a neo-Nazi group.

The judge told the four: "You were used by unscrupulous people to further their own evil designs, and one does not know whether to pity or blame you."

Post Office Dedication on Weekend

W. M. McMillan

A Post Office and Federal Building Dedication Dinner will be held Saturday evening at the Town & Country Restaurant at 7 o'clock, honoring those distinguished visitors who will have a part in the dedication ceremonies on Sunday afternoon.

Those expected to be in attendance at the dinner will be W. M. McMillan, Assistant Postmaster General of Washington, D. C., Judge Oren Harris of El Dorado, Congressman James W. Trimble of Washington, D. C., and Randolph Jackson, Regional Administrator of the General Services Administration, of Dallas, Texas and possibly some postal officials from Little Rock.

The dinner is open to the public and tickets are available at the First National Bank, the Citizens National Bank and the Chamber of Commerce office.

Tide Turned for U.S. as Riots Hits

By JOHN T. WHEELER
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Nam's latest government crisis erupted just as senior American military officials felt the tide of battle had begun to turn in their favor.

"If things continue to go as they have in the field, we're in," one U.S. officer said, summing up the feeling of the American command.

The Allied troops have taken the initiative from the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops. Massive American firepower, constant bombing and relentless pressure on Communist strongholds have produced impressive results.

Some senior sources concede the picture isn't quite as bright as the daily announcements make it appear.

Two of the most quoted statistics are enemy bodies counted and the number of Viet Cong defectors. One senior official said he automatically cuts body count figures in half. Another says the current rate of more than 2,000 defectors a month includes a large number of refugees and a high percentage of persons in the fringe of the Communist movement.

The number of hardcore fighting troops crossing over to the government side is considered small.

Sturgis Due to Tell of Secret Pay Increases

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The full story of a complicated plan to finance a salary increase for Highway Department administrators and engineers with federal funds was expected to come today from former Highway Director Mack Sturgis.

Sturgis, the man in the middle of an erupting controversy over the unannounced pay raises, told newsmen Wednesday that he would have a complete statement today.

Meanwhile, Wayne Hampton of Stuttgart, highway commission chairman, was preparing to launch his own investigation and the Republican Party called for a top-to-bottom probe of the Highway Department.

The pay increases were in effect during the March 15-April 1 pay period, but they were not revealed until Tuesday, when a newsmen received an anonymous letter, apparently from a minor highway department employee.

Authority for the increases finally was cancelled by state Comptroller L. A. Mashburn, after a telephone conference with Gov. Orval Faubus.

Faubus, who has said he will not seek a seventh term, told Mashburn to revoke the authority. It was not clear whether he had approved the pay raise plan in the first place.

Mashburn and Sturgis said they conferred with Faubus before Mashburn last month issued a letter authorizing the Highway Department to implement Act 18 of 1965, a supplementary highway Department appropriation.

The act allocated expenditure of up to $2,385,000 in federal funds anticipated under various development programs.

Mashburn said that he was told in a letter from Sturgis that $776,000 was available under the act.

"The act authorized hiring of additional employees to handle new federal employees," Mashburn said. "It looked like a good deal." We did not know that the Highway Department planned to use the money to give raises to existing employees.

This apparently is what happened, however. Sturgis issued an order increasing the salaries of 45 top men shortly before he resigned April 1 to return to his old job as state purchasing agent. Sturgis, who is recovering from a heart attack, said the highway job was too demanding physically.

The salary increases ranged up to $275 a month for assistant director Y. W. Wheelchel.

Wheelchel said most of the federal money mentioned in Sturgis' letter involved a $677,000 appropriation from the federal highway Beautification Act of 1965.

Neither Wheelchel or anyone else could explain how beautification funds could be used for salary increases.

Auto Safety Standards to Be Overhauled

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Warren G. Magnuson predicted today the Senate Commerce Committee which he heads will call for mandatory safety standards for cars.

Magnuson told newsmen this seemed to be the feeling of a majority of the members of the committee, which concluded hearings Wednesday on President Johnson's highway safety legislation.

Magnuson said he thought the committee would amend the bill to direct that standards be issued and also to require the adoption of interim standards pending further research and testing.

Such temporary standards, Magnuson said, could be worked out after consultation with the industry. He said they could provide for collapsible steering wheels, dual brakes and "other things the industry apparently is going to do anyway."

Brooks Hays Says He Can Beat Alford

By WAYMAN C. DUNLAP

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Arkansas congressman Brooks Hays, denying that he was yet a candidate for governor, said here Wednesday night that if he were he could beat Dr. Dale Alford.

Alford defeated Hays in 1958 when Hays ran for re-election as a U.S. representative and is considered a potential candidate for governor this year.

In 1958, one year after the so-called "integration crisis" in Little Rock, Alford ran on what was regarded as a strong segregationist platform, while Hays was considered a liberal.

Neither of the men has said definitely whether they will run for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination this year but Hays said Wednesday night he hoped to make a decision within ten days.

He said he would come to Little Rock to announce his decision, one way or the other.

Should he run, Hays was asked what it would be his platform.

"I'm standing exactly where I did in 1958," the 67-year-old presidential adviser said, "My stand hasn't deviated one bit."

U.S. Jeep Is Burned by Saigon Rioters

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Hundreds of antigovernment demonstrators poured toward downtown Saigon tonight and burned a U.S. military police jeep a few hours after Buddhist leaders demanded that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime pledge publicly to give way to a civilian government in five or six months.

No Americans were reported injured.

"End the war immediately," said one of the banners carried by the demonstrators.

A battalion of paratroopers waded into the rioters and sent them scurrying down side streets. Some began regrouping to continue their descent on the downtown area in the fifth continuous day of unrest in the capital's streets.

The Buddhist hierarchy earlier instructed its militant young supporters to remain quiet until the junta replied to its request for a public pledge to turn over power to a popularly elected constituent assembly within five or six months.

The Buddhist statement said the government had promised this privately.

Hopes that the month-long political crisis was easing a bit were jolted when 500 demonstrators emerged from the Buddhist compound on the outskirts of the city. As they marched toward the center of the city with their familiar antigovernment banners, they attracted hundreds of supporters.

Until then a strange calm had prevailed in Saigon, with no sign of any antigovernment or anti-American agitators.

Heavy fighting flared 20 miles northwest of Saigon between the U.S. 25th Infantry Division and the Viet Cong.

Buddhists, Students Are the Trouble

The Buddhists and the students have been the main factors, as they have been in every coup in its country. What they want depends on what fraction they belong to. Basically they want power, if not actual positions, then to be king makers.

Then there are skyrocketing prices and the natural resentment of any population against foreign troops who by local standards are rich, live better, and monopolize girls, bars and entertainment.

Finally there are the ruling generals who joust among themselves for power.

In this struggle for power, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky fired Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, commander of the 1st Corps. That precipitated the present crisis.

Ky acted to "unify" the generals' junta, U.S. officials said at the time. It had the opposite effect. This proved as powerful as many suspected. Within days of his ouster, rioting began in Hue and Da Nang and Ky was forced to permit Thi to return to the northern sector.

By firing Thi, Premier Ky exposed a crack in the ruling junta. This gave the opposition an opening. The balance of power within the junta is as delicate as a watchspring.

The issues now go far beyond a junta squabble. They affect the Western world's whole position here.

The Buddhists tasted power first in 1963 when they overthrew President Ngo Dinh Diem.

They have been a force to be reckoned with ever since. Close observers believe they now want a government they can control.

Moderate and extremist wings of the Buddhist hierarchy appear to be divided over the timing.

"Moderate" is a comparative term to describe the Buddhist group headed by Thich Tam Cau, chairman of the Buddhist Institute in Saigon. He desires a civilian government eventually. There was a feeling that Tam Cau and his followers would be prepared to wait several months for the "political congress" Ky has proposed to determine a national constitution. After this, elections would be held, and the Buddhists feel they would win. Now Tam Cau wants elections in three months.

Extremists, headed by the mysterious Thich Tri Quang, want the government overthrown now and a civilian government formed.

Tri Quang has been credited with masterful planning in Hue and Da Nang.

When 18,000 people took to the streets of Hue in a protest march, that was one-third of the city's population. Tri Quang's Buddhists dominate officialdom in that old imperial capital, and the sallow, enigmatic monk obviously has support. U.S. officials believe the situation is worse now in Hue than in Da Nang.

The Buddhists have far less influence in Saigon than in Hue. But the sight of 10,000 people sitting quietly with upturned faces any evening at the Buddhist Institute, listening to their favorite Buddhist orator, impresses student of power politics. No other group can gather a large crowd so easily in Saigon.

The Buddhists have power also in the coastal cities of Nha Trang, Qui Nhon and Quang Ngai, because they have no competition.

Only the Viet Cong has the hope and the organizational ability to compete. The Vietnamese army keeps the Viet Cong out of the cities, leaving the Buddhists freedom of operation.

Civilian politicians discredited themselves early in 1965 when they deliberately collapsed a nonmilitary government because of political rivalries. The military had no choice but to take over again.

This does not dissuade the diehard politicians from trying. Political agitators were quickly on the scene after the ruling junta split with Thi's ouster.

A militant student organization was created in Saigon and politicians openly led demonstrations. The Buddhists provided the demonstrators and the politicians the leadership.

The Catholic role in the current crisis has been extremely low-keyed.

Father Hoang Quynh, a Catholic extremist, has issued several statements partly supporting the Buddhist demand for a civilian government. But Catholic influence in Da Nang and Hue is small.

Aside from the leaders, how far has the dissension spread among the army and the civil service?

As many as 2,000 soldiers at a time demonstrated on the streets of Da Nang against the government, almost all the troops in Da Nang at the time. In Hue, the situation appears even more antigovernment.

Government officials turned over typewriters and paper to agitators for their pamphlets. Antigovernment students reportedly still control Radio Hue. How much of the unrest is organized by the Communists? The Communists have been building up a network in Viet Nam's towns and cities for years that could easily take advantage of unrest and turn it into political chaos. The Viet Cong and their backers have infiltrated all factions of Vietnamese life — the religious groups, the students, the government and the military. Broadcasts over Buddhist-dominated Radio Hue sound at times like copies of Radio Liberation, the voice of the Viet Cong.

The problem for Vietnamese authorities is: Where does a Buddhist, or agitator, or student end, and a Communist begin? The anti-Americanism cropping up is not necessarily all Communist-inspired. The entry of more than 200,000 American troops into Viet Nam was bound to have repercussions among the public.

But U.S. officials did not expect to see it become manifest in such scenes as a mob burning a U.S. Army jeep and the roughing up of a uniformed American soldier — two incidents that occurred in Saigon.

Most of the anti-Americanism seems to have been initially based on the political posture of the United States.

Barrers read "Down with U.S. obstructionism," not "Yankee go home."

American servicemen have been remarkably well behaved in Viet Nam. But this is ignored by the mobs who joyfully seize on an issue, any issue, to aid their cause.

U.S. officials fear that anti-Americanism may become an accepted platform for opponents of the government. This would play into the hands of those who would like to see some sort of exclusive settlement with the Viet Cong to end the war.

All sides claim they want peace in Viet Nam.

The question is what side will be in a position to bring that peace and what form will it take.

Will it be the United States and the Vietnamese central government, negotiating with the Communists from a position of strength?

Will it be the Buddhists, moving down a middle path confident they can curb the communistic influence of the Viet Cong?

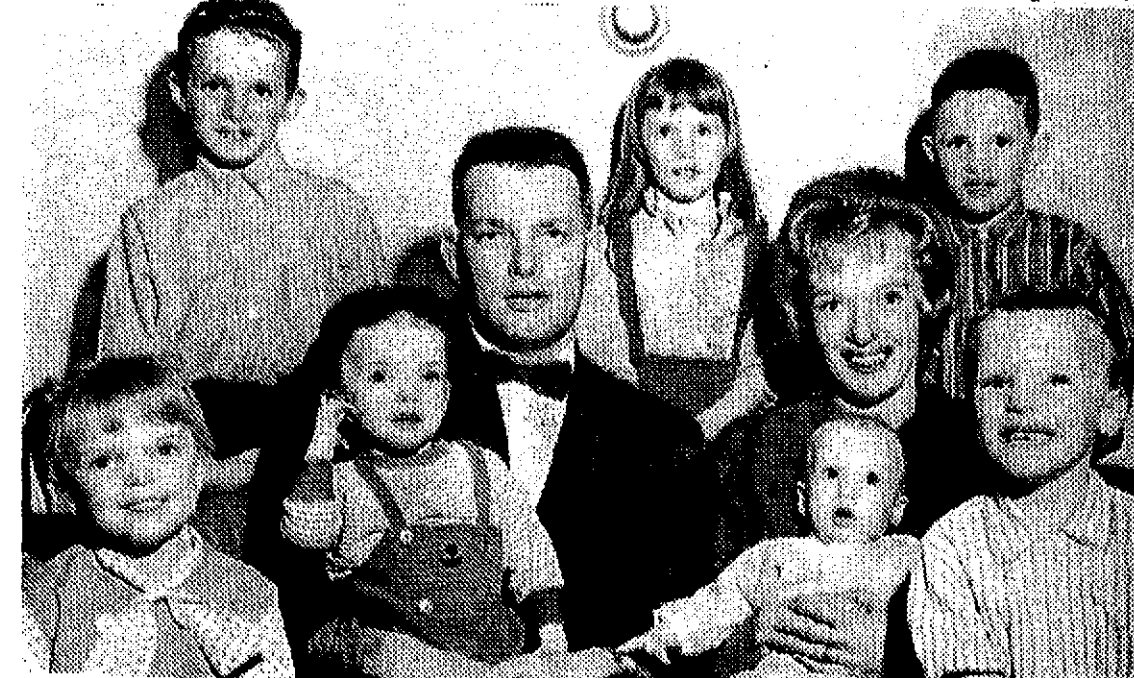

Will it be a Saigon government installed by a coup, and hostile to the United States, that orders the American military presence out of the country before coming to terms with the Viet Cong?

Big Majority for Nationalists

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's segregationist Nationalist party has been returned to power by the largest majority in South Africa's history.

The Nationalists won 126 of 170 seats in the all-white House of Assembly, election returns showed Thursday. The highest previous total was 111 seats, won by the United Party when it gained power in 1938.

The United Party, now the chief opposition party, won 39 seats in the election on Wednesday. The anti-segregation progressive party retained its one seat, held by Mrs. Helen Suzman, an outspoken critic of Verwoerd's apartheid policy of rigid segregation.

DRAFT MATERIAL—Dr. David T. McCann of Chicago, pictured with his wife and seven children, rates high as a family man and also as an armed forces prospect. Aged 32, physically fit and with no previous military training, he's been ordered to report for service under the doctor's draft.

Did You Ever Think of Getting Your Easter Bonnet From A&P?

We don't sell Easter bonnets but... we suspect many an Easter hat has been paid for with money saved by shopping A&P.

Are we implying that A&P has the lowest prices on all items all the time?

No! There is no store that can make that claim.

What we are saying is: if you're interested in your total food bill; if you're looking for the best values for your food dollar, A&P is the store for you.

It's a little late for this year's Easter bonnet, but start shopping A&P this week, anyway.

It won't be long before somebody in the house will need a new pair of shoes.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

Inflation Has Johnson in a Box

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is in a box.

Last January he laid down guidelines for business and labor to prevent inflation. He wanted wage raises limited to 3.2 per cent with no price increases. This was his guideline for both sides.

But prices have gone up. February showed the steepest rise in living costs since the Korean War, with food prices leading the upswing.

Although the rise was only half of 1 per cent it was part of a fairly steady climb, for living costs now are 2.5 per cent above a year ago, the biggest annual increase since 1958.

In the past few days he has telephoned over 25 leaders to ask them to go easy on any spending that might produce inflation. And he invited a number of top businessmen to a White House dinner tonight.

He'll no doubt burn up businessmen who, if they see a chance to make big profits, won't be happy to have Johnson bending their ear about going easy.

Meanwhile, labor is publicly burned up with him for insisting wage increases, when living costs and business profits are going up, must be held to a 3.2 per cent limit.

Labor, which has consistently backed the Democrats, is crucially important to Johnson's party which faces the voters next November in the congressional election, particularly when politician Johnson remembers that the party with a majority in Congress, such as the Democrats have now, traditionally loses seats in an election year when the presidency is not at stake.

No one knows better than Johnson that a tax boost can be poison in an election year.

Slowly and steadily, Johnson has been saying he would propose a tax boost — on individual and corporate income — if he found it necessary to fight inflation.

Tuesday, perhaps, he said it more strongly than ever: "Congress would rather have a modest tax increase of 5, 6 or 7 per cent. That's to see inflation and the value of the dollar go down."

If there is to be a tax increase, he said, his advisers figure it ought to bring in around $5 billion. And, he warned, if prices continue to go up, he would ask for a tax bill.

But already this year Congress has boosted taxes to bring in about $6 billion over the next 15 months to help finance the Viet Nam war. That was done this month.

It boosted the automobile excise tax, which manufacturers have to pay, and upped the telephone tax. At the same time it provided for tighter pay-as-you-go tax withholdings from individuals and faster tax collections from corporations.

And while Johnson was warning against inflation and the possible need for a tax boost, the House at Johnson's request approved $12 million to provide rent subsidies for poor families — although Johnson had asked more — and $10 million for a Teachers Corps program. Both are part of Johnson's "Great Society" plan.

It was just two years ago that Congress, at Johnson's urging, voted a $19.2-billion tax cut for individuals and corporations extending over 1964 and 1965.

It came out at about an average 19 per cent reduction for individuals and 9 per cent for corporations. When he signed that tax-cut bill in 1964 Johnson said it was the "single most important step we have taken to strengthen our economy since World War II."

Until he actually asks Congress for a tax boost now, it's possible Johnson is using the threat of a boost to persuade business and labor to stick to his guidelines.

You Can Tell It's Spring

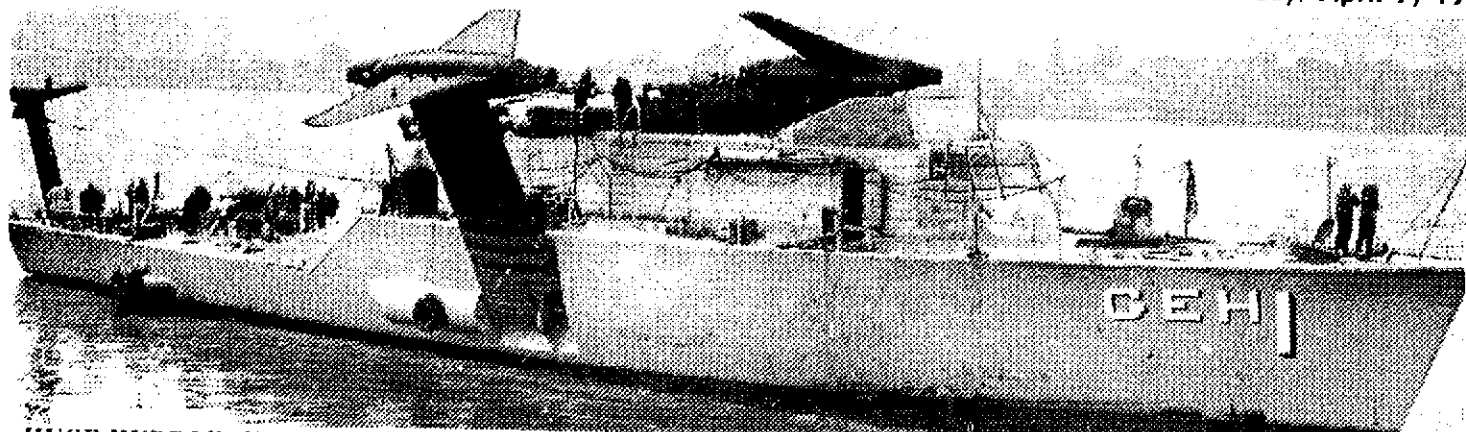

by Gaynor Maddox, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My husband wants me to ask you if it isn't true that some foods, such as raw eggs, lean meat and shellfish increase sexual potency. He really believes it.

A—Every year, come spring, that question is asked by many readers. The answer is "NO!" Lean meat, eggs, oysters and crabs, celery, all these are, of course, first-class foods and definitely contribute to body strength and well-being. But none of them has any special properties which increase sexual potency.

Q—Just what is a "soft-shelled" crab?

A—The soft-shelled crab or "shedder" is not a distinct species. It is a molting crab, taken just after it has shed its hard shell and before the new shell has formed. It is remarkably sweet and tender eating. Incidentally, crab meat is an excellent source of easily digested, top-quality protein. The B vitamins and minerals. Also it's low in fat and calories.

HUGE HYDROFOIL—Not missiles ready for launching, but the retracted sea legs of the world's largest hydrofoil vessel, the Plainview. Lowered hydraulically, the foils lift the hull above the surface, reducing drag to a minimum and permitting speeds of better than 40 knots. Unlike other hydrofoils, the Plainview's foils are completely submerged, keeping it stable and maneuverable in waves up to 15 feet. The 310-ton craft, built by a Seattle, Wash., subsidiary of Lockheed Aircraft, will be used for research by the Navy, which believes the super hydrofoil might prove particularly useful for anti-submarine missions.

Grow Your Own Salads

Easy to grow vegetables for salads.

By Allan and Sheila Swenson
NEA Garden Specialists

Salads are a great treat and easy to grow in limited space. Here's a step-by-step guide to better health and good eating with your continuously productive salad patch.

What vegetables? Tomatoes, radishes, peppers, cucumbers, lettuce for a start. They go naturally together. You can even enjoy salads from plants grown as part of flower borders.

Tomatoes will grow up if you give them a chance. A few plants will reward your whole family with red, ripe, mouth-watering treats all summer. Try Burpee Big Boy, Rutgers, Beefsteak. Also, put in a few plants of the Tiny Tim or other small bite-size cherry or plum-type tomatoes.

You can stake them up to save space or use a cylinder of fencing wire to keep plants upright, fruits cleaner, easier to pick.

Radishes are snappy. They thrive in almost all soils. For best results, plant seeds every three weeks to keep fresh supplies maturing. Try both red and white varieties.

Peppers add a decorative and delicious touch. Six plants will supply the average family's needs. Grow them for slicing, salads, stuffing. They add a colorful spot to flower beds.

Don't stoop for cukes. Grow them on a trellis, fence or stakes. Northrup-King and Burpee both have new hybrids for pickling, slicing or salads. They keep yielding up to frost.

Lettuce comes in all sizes, types and flavors. Try some green leaf types as well as head lettuce. A new Red Leaf looks as good as it tastes in salads. For warm summer growing, select the varieties that are heat-resistant and won't bolt to seed.

You can add dash to summer salad fun with chard, chives, endive, green onions too. What you plant depends on your tastes and space.

Regal Asparagus

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

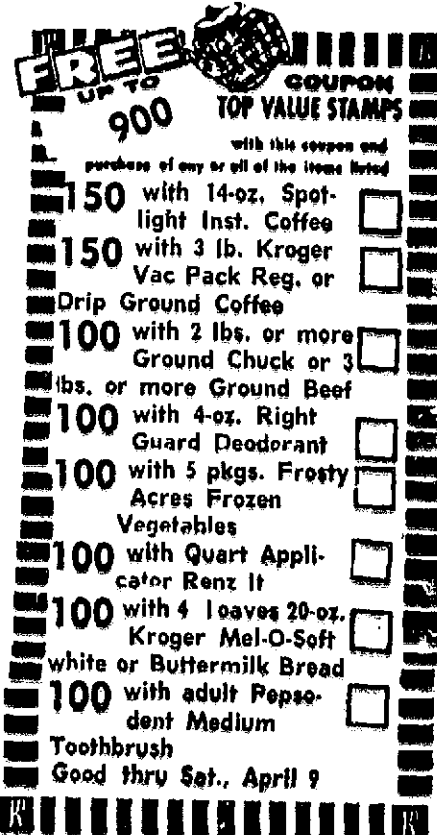

Fresh asparagus is always one of the most welcome signs of spring. Served hot with butter, buttered crumbs or a Hollandaise sauce it is a regal vegetable. Served cold with a vinaigrette sauce, it is a de luxe but simple to prepare salad. Combined with meat, fish or eggs, it adds flavor and color to delicious cooked dishes. For an unusual hors d'oeuvres snack, and something different to serve with soup or salad, try this recipe.

FRESH ASPARAGUS HAM ROLLS
(Serves 8)

8 spears fresh asparagus, cooked
1 teaspoon salt
1 pkg. (8 oz.) refrigerator crescent rolls
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1 cup grated Swiss cheese
8 pieces thinly-sliced boiled ham
Caraway seed

Cut 8 spears of cooked asparagus into 4-inch pieces. Sprinkle with 1/2 teaspoon salt. On lightly floured surface, unroll crescents. With rolling pin, roll each triangle out flat. Brush with melted butter or margarine mixed with the lemon juice. Sprinkle each triangle with 2 tablespoons grated cheese. Roll each piece of asparagus in a square of ham; place at wide end of triangle. Turn to ends of dough over ham, and roll from wide to narrow end. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Brush tops of rolls with butter-lemon mixture; sprinkle with caraway seed. Bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 15 to 17 minutes or until golden. Serve hot as a soup or salad accompaniment along with the rest of the hot, cooked spears seasoned with French dressing.

Ham Serves Easter Tradition

Serve this baked half ham with tart red cherry sauce as the highlight of your holiday dinner. Mixed fruit in grapefruit baskets gives a charming salad course.

A special favorite at holiday time, modern ham can be chosen in many styles, says Reba Staggs, meat expert.

Basically, the two kinds of hams in your market can be described as: "cook-before-eating" and "fully-cooked." These, however, are obtainable as bone-in hams; skinless, shankless hams; semi-boneless which means the aitch (hip) bone and shank bone have been removed, but leg bone left in and boneless hams.

Baked Half Ham—Cherry Sauce
Place the ham, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so the bulb reaches the center of the thickest part. Be certain that the bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325° F.) until the meat thermometer registers 160° F. for a "cook-before-eating" ham or 130° F. for a "fully-cooked" ham. Allow 2 to 2½ hours for a "cook-before-eating" and 1½ to 2 hours for a "fully-cooked" half ham.

Don't Settle for Dullness

by Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Millett
So says Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, director of the National Institute of Mental Health, in a recent magazine article.

What can a young couple, reading that statement and thinking, "That's us," do to change the dreary picture?

Here are a few suggestions:

The husband may be getting no satisfaction out of his work and is only holding on to the job he has because it is safe. Perhaps, if he talked things over with his wife, they could figure out a way for him to take a chance on finding a more satisfactory kind of work while he is still young enough to make a switch.

It could mean that the wife would have to go to work, too, for a while. Or that the home in the suburbs, with the big monthly payments, would have to be sold and other sacrifices made. But if a couple isn't willing to take chances and sacrifice for what they really want while they are still young, they can expect to go through life bored and boring.

If it's their leisure time that is dull and unrewarding, that ought to be easy to correct. A bored young couple is probably mentally and physically lazy, settling even after weekend for the easiest entertainment available—watching television, going to an occasional movie, reading escape paperbacks, getting together with friends infrequently because making plans to do things with other young couples is too much trouble.

All such a husband and wife need to do to get more out of their leisure time is to stir themselves into getting a little adventure and excitement into their lives by planning for new experiences. And if their friends are as bored and boring as they are, they should make a real effort to find friends who are living life more enthusiastically.

It's a crime for a young couple who could with a little gumption be living life to the fullest to settle for a lifetime of dull existence.

Weight Distribution
In the average egg, the white accounts for about 58 per cent, the yolk about 31 per cent and the shell 11 per cent of the total weight of the hen's egg.

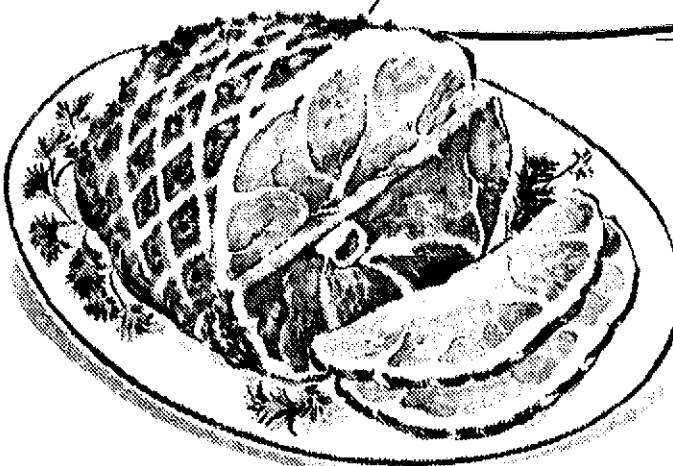

TIE GAME—It takes a pretty ingenious seamstress to find a use for those beautiful broadtail ties that were replaced by the skinny new ones. Emma Watts' grandmother in Casper, Wyo., has accomplished it. She made this colorful skirt for her 10-year-old granddaughter.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOR THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Could it be? Impossible! Yet it was indeed Richard Chamberlain with tousled hair and a week's growth of beard.
"Very simple," he diagnosed. "I had to be neat for so long. I enjoy being unwashed and unshaven for a change."
You see, Richard Chamberlain is Dr. Kildare no more. You may still be seeing him Mondays and Tuesdays on the NBC soap opera, but his duties at Blair General Hospital ended with final shooting a month ago.
The reason: poor ratings. This season the series, highly successful as an hour, was bifurcated into a twice-weekly show with disastrous results.
It's now likely that his teenage followers will desert him simply because he had reached the advanced age of 32. At any rate, Chamberlain is aiming for more mature audiences as well.
He appears to have hit the mark in his first engagement after hanging up his smock at Blair. He and close friend Joan Marshall starred in "The Philadelphia Story" in Palm Beach, Fla., appearing in the roles played on the screen by Cary Grant and Katherine Hepburn.
Palm Beach critics rewarded Chamberlain with such phrases as "Fine sense of timing," "Bounce and aplomb," "Handsome and winning."
Now he plans to play "Private Lives" in Ohio and Berkeley, Calif., this summer, provided a movie doesn't intervene. He's aiming for the movie money right now. Television?
"No, thanks," he said. "I have only a year and a half to go at MGM, so that would preclude another series. I hope to avoid another series, anyway. They're pure death for an actor."
